

Non-Tenure Track Assistant/Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship and Innovation

The Fox School of Business at Temple University invites applications for a non-tenure-track assistant or associate professor of practice with areas of expertise in innovation, creativity, and entrepreneurship. This position will be in the Department of Management. Professors of practice are expected to demonstrate excellence in teaching through classroom instruction and related pedagogical activities, as well as continued engagement in their professional fields. The start date for the position is July 1, 2022.

We seek candidates capable of contributing to the department's teaching needs, and who will engage in continuous improvement in teaching and pedagogy. Our academic offerings include an undergraduate major and minor in Entrepreneurship, and a Master of Science in Innovation Management and Entrepreneurship. Course topics include: Business Model Innovation, Global Innovation Strategy, Lean Start-up, Technology, Intelligence, Creativity, and more.

In addition, this position will be part of the leadership team for our Innovation and Entrepreneurship Institute (IEI), which engages in myriad activities to promote entrepreneurship across the university.

<https://www.fox.temple.edu/institutes-centers/innovation-entrepreneurship-institute/>

At minimum, a master's degree in business or arts related to innovation/creativity (or comparable subject), as well as broad experience, including leadership roles, is required.

Prior teaching experience is strongly preferred.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Priority will be given to candidates who apply before April 1st. Include (1) a cover letter addressed to Professor John McClendon (Department Chair) indicating interest and relevant professional and academic background, (2) current curriculum vitae, (3) a statement of teaching interests and philosophy, (4) evidence of effective teaching (if available), and (5) names and contact information for at least three references.

Submit materials electronically to john.mcclendon@temple.edu as a zipped file with a file name that starts with the applicant's last name. Please also include your last name, first name_2022 NTT IEI Application in the subject line.

Temple University, located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has evolved into an international powerhouse in higher education and a top-tier research institution with approximately 36,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. As the largest university in one of the nation's most iconic cities, Temple educates diverse future leaders from Philadelphia, the country, and the world who share a common drive to learn and make a real impact. For additional information about Temple University, please visit www.temple.edu.

The Fox School of Business is accredited by AACSB International. With more than 7,000 students and more than 190 full-time faculty members, it is one of the largest and most comprehensive business schools in the nation, offering Bachelors, MBA, Specialized Masters, Executive MBA, Executive DBA, and Ph.D. degrees with programs on campuses in the Philadelphia region and worldwide. For additional information about the Fox School of Business, please visit <https://www.fox.temple.edu/>.

Temple University is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer committed to student, faculty and staff diversity, equity, and inclusion. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. Additional information is available from the university, college, and department websites at <http://www.fox.temple.edu>.

Temple University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report contains statistics, policies, and procedures related to campus safety and can be found at: <https://safety.temple.edu/reports-logs/annual-security-report> . You may request a copy of the report by calling Temple University's Campus Safety Services at 215-204-7900.